

The Night Of The Burning

Chapter 21 The Final Visit

I was very very happy because finally it would be the first ever time in my entire life that Naomi was going to visit my house. Now Naomi can see the house I live in. When the day came for Naomi to arrive at my house, Naomi's face had a weird look. She asked me with her weird look and a weird voice, "So this is where you live?"

I told her, "Yes, this is where I live." Naomi's face still looked weird. Then we went to the living room. Naomi's face just kept looking weird. Right before she left, I couldn't stand her so asked her, "Why is your face looking so weird?" She said, "I think this house is small and stinks, big houses are so much better." Naomi started bragging about how she was moving to America. I was shocked.

"How can you do that Naomi, how? We are family and you are not going anywhere." She started screaming when I grabbed some rope and tape and tied her up in my room. Minutes past before the Steins could make their decision. Then, I told her, "I don't care." Naomi started crying and apologized for everything she had said today and all the other visits at her house. Naomi asked Mrs. Kagan a question. Naomi asked, "Can I be adopted by you?" Just Then, Mr. Stein and Mrs. Stein walked in. Naomi began to beg the her parents if she could be adopted by the Kagans. It took like a long time for the Steins to make up there mind. After a lot of convincing by Naomi, the Steins finally Yes. I said to Naomi, " Naomi, I am Devorah Lehrman, and you are Nechama Lehrman. Nechama nodded and smiled. I said to myself, "Finally, after everything we've been through, we can be happy together."
